

Why Aren't Dog Steps Designed for Dogs?

The Challenge

Finding dog steps that are safe for your dog, healthy for your dog, look good in your home, and that your dog likes and uses. No problem, right?

Have you ever watched a puppy try to navigate stairs? Or an older dog, perhaps one with hip issues, struggle to climb a couple of steps? We all have...and that struggling dog may be curled up at your feet right now.

The Problem

Everyday stairs for humans are not built to some perfect angle suitable to all living creatures, but for average human strides to provide easy and comfortable ascent and descent, for humans.

Unfortunately, when it comes to dog stairs for small dogs, senior dogs, dogs with long backs, or simply pet steps to help your pooch get onto the couch or bed, the typical pet stairs, or "pet steps," have always been designed from a human approach, offering a one-size-fits-all approach to handle all the different types of dogs. That's bad news for most dogs.

Dogs comes in literally dozens of different sizes, shapes, physical abilities, differing agility levels, health conditions and other needs. From puppies and Pekinese to seniors and Spaniels, dogs face challenges every day trying to do simple things you and I take for granted. Want to be on the couch or bed? The choices are: 1. Dog ramps – not great for paws and joints; or, 2. Standard dog steps – which are often unstable, in addition to not being customized to a dog's specific physical needs.

What if there was an answer? ...You guessed it. Now there is.

The Solution

The new, totally unique, Good Steps adjustable dog steps are designed to assist your dog from puppy to senior, while adjusting to fit your dog's unique needs. And they look really good!

Good Steps allow you to adjust the height between steps, the number of steps, the amount of tread area available to your dog, and to continue adjusting it as they grow and have changing needs, such as health issues or old age.

---

Who are Good Steps Dog Steps for?

When the dog loving owners at Good Steps began putting together a list of dog types and conditions that could benefit from the new steps, they found the list just kept growing and currently includes:

- Puppies
- Short legs
- Long backs
- Injuries
- Senior dogs
- Heavy dogs
- Looooong legs
- Hip issues
- Nerve damage
- Balance issues
- Rehab
- Weakness
- Vision problems
- ... and probably a bunch more.

---

Press

To learn more about Good Steps visit the website or contact us directly. We also have made available for you a Media Room with prepared articles, F.A.Q. Information, and a gallery of images you may use.

Website: GoodSteps.dog

Give-Away Contest: <https://goodsteps.dog/win-good-steps.htm>

Press Direct Phone: 435-640-5882 cell

Press Contact Email: CBDB@GoodSteps.dog

Media Room: <https://goodsteps.dog/newsroom.htm> Videos: <https://goodsteps.dog/video-test-dogs.htm>